Product benefits

Local and regional data combined

Along with regional 4- days forecast, an outdoor sensor is included to track local data.

Stay on top of Extreme Conditions

Meteotime signals stations in the event of conditions such as windstorms and heavy snows.

Dual Screen Design

The dual screen display uses clear and easily understood visuals to show current conditions and upcoming forecast.

A 4-day all-day forecast on hand

Both the current day display and the forecast for the next 3 days loop from day to evening values, so you'll know what weather to expect on your way to work and later on your way out to dinner.

Automatic updates from industry professionals

Your 4-day forecast is updated directly by Meteotime, a meteorological centre serving major cities throughout Europe, so you're always on top of the weather.

Target Audience

- Busy homeowners who want to keep track of the weather at a glance without having to sort out TV schedules or weather websites.
- Students abroad who want to focus on their studies instead of figuring out the local climate and weather patterns.
- Active outdoors enthusiasts who want to be alerted to extreme weather in advance, not when it hits their campsite.
- Weather enthusiasts and amateur meteorologists who want to gather info from Meteotime and test their own forecasting skills.
